

Dear All,

Science is global and Engineering is local and regional. Engineering is an initiative to reach out to the regional and local needs of people. I bring you one such very interesting innovative effort which is high entrepreneurship, based on science and is an effort to recycle waste; an initiative to keep the earth clean as well. I share with you today an interesting story of how used Plastic Bottles are crushed and given new life in the shape of garments.

This is an initiative to share new knowledge on a day-to-day basis for the benefit of our students and faculty members and all my colleagues as we are in an Institution, this is my humble effort to share knowledge. Wish you happy viewing the video!
